

Slow Food Tour of Italy

May 22 – June 3, 2012

The Slow Food Tour Includes:

- Our trip begins in Verona where the Veneto Slow Food Presidio has organized four full day tours of food-related venues.
- We will visit a family tortellini 'factory', traditional rice farm, cooperative organic farm, cheese production facility, and sausage factory.
- We will enjoy a walking tour of Verona and eat thin crust pizza extraordinaire.
- Our train trip to Venice allows you to lose yourself in the medieval winding lanes or spend hours on the vaporetto touring the canals that make Venice unique among cities.
- We will spend four days in Florence where we will learn about food in Italy, visit the local markets, and enjoy a cooking lesson. We will also visit an art museum which you must do when you are in Florence, the center of the Renaissance.
- Many meals are included: all breakfasts at the hotel, four lunches, and three dinners.
- Ten nights of hotel accommodations (two to a room) in three star hotels.
- Plenty of time for shopping.
- Round-trip airfare from Boston.
- You will be issued a cell phone to use for local calls.

You can join us
on the tour with or without taking the college course!

To learn more about the trip and hear from students who toured (and ate) with us last year, please attend the informational session Wednesday, December 7th in HH 115 @ 1:30pm
