President Cevallos invited Dr. Vincent Ferraro to introduce the Student-in-the-Spotlight, Laura J. Lopez.

Dr. Ferraro introduced Laura Lopez, a graduating senior at the University. Laura came to the University in the fall of 2020, as a transfer student from MassBay Community College, after completing her associate degree in criminal justice. He noted that to transition to a new institution at the beginning of the pandemic was truly an accomplishment, but to do so as successfully as Laura has, is truly remarkable. Laura has an outstanding GPA and is a phenomenal student by any metric. She is a member of the Alpha Phi Sigma, the Criminal Justice Honor Society, she was presented a departmental award for excellence in Criminology, and will lead her fellow graduates into commencement as the marshal of the College of Education and Social and Behavioral Sciences.

Laura thanked the Trustees for the opportunity to tell her story. As she completed her associate’s degree, she initially sought universities that were further away for the area. She wanted to explore a different setting, but an advisor suggested she look in her “back yard” and she decided to apply to FSU.

Although she began studying at the University in the midst of the pandemic, she was able to make strong connections with her professors, who also assisted in preparing her for life after FSU. She recently applied for an internship with the Massachusetts State Police Crime Lab, and was notified yesterday that she had been accepted.

In closing, she expressed her gratitude for the opportunity to attend a “close knit school” where she received the guidance and education that allowed her to flourish as a student and prepared her for her future endeavors.

President Cevallos concluded his report by thanking Dr. Ellen Zimmerman, for her work as interim Provost. He noted that Dr. Zimmerman came at a difficult time for the division, then had to address the challenges of the pandemic. He commended her for her dedication and hard work, continuing to stay in her role as interim provost through the worst of the pandemic.

Trustee Hubbard asked Dr. Bridges to elaborate on the focus group initiative. He asked how many students are expected to participate, and what would be the level of commitment required of the students. What are the goals for their persistence in having feedback from a consistent group of students.

- Dr. Bridges responded that she would rely on different groups to nominate students. Additionally, University members such as Sara Gallegos, will assist in working with SGA and student clubs to encourage participation. Eric Nguyen will also assist in recruiting students from various groups. The hope is that the students to be able to provide the steering committee and subgroups with a sounding board and consult them regarding initiatives that would be successful.

Trustee Claire Ramsbottom suggested considering the cost of recruitment versus the cost of retention. Trustee Robert Richards asked if the Onboarding and Transition subcommittee considered surveying the parents to review what the onboarding process was like for them. The questions led to a larger conversation regarding the topic.

Trustee Budwig asked for an additional information to the chart included on page 46, full Board Materials, to include a column itemizing what success would look like to the projects initiated.
