Careers in Nutrition & Wellness

Deanna Belleny is the co-founder and Director of Programs at Diversify Dietetics. She was inspired to found Diversify Dietetics after several thought-provoking personal experiences as a student and a dietetics professional of color. Deanna's practice background is in public health and healthcare quality improvement. She currently works as the Assistant Director of Systems Transformation at Harvard Medical School's Center for Primary Care. She has worked for close to 10 years planning, implementing and evaluating programs that impact underrepresented minority groups. Additionally, she has trained numerous allied health teams and leaders in both professional and interpersonal skill development. She is passionate about equity and supporting students and professionals of color who wish to pursue a career in nutrition and dietetics. Deanna is also a founding member and co-organizer for the Boston Alliance for Diversity in Dietetics (BADD), a program designed to organize social justice-minded students, interns, and professionals in dietetics in the Boston area towards achieving diversity in the field of dietetics.
