Course Description:

An exploration of all aspects of student motivation from the psychology of seating to motivating reluctant learners. This course provides concrete action steps such as checklists, strategies for preventing misbehavior, activities for positive student-teacher connections, ideas for addressing brain-dominance and learning preferences, and strategies for incorporating higher-order thinking skills into lessons.

Learning Outcomes:

On successful completion of the program, participants will be able to:

- ◆ Explain the impact of creating life-altering relationships with students and families.
- ◆ Use an empowered mindset to develop a positive classroom culture.
- ◆ Analyze and apply motivational strategies.
- ◆ Use the elements of routines and rituals to make classroom positive, meaningful experience.
- ◆ Analyze and apply strategies for preparation for classroom: physical space, paperwork and self
